

JAPS AGAIN AT PORT ARTHUR

Viceroy Alexieff Reports That a Squadron Is Approaching the City Today.

GREAT DOINGS AT ST. PETERSBURG

Survivors of the Variag and Korietz Reach the Russian Capital--Greeted with Great Enthusiasm by the People.

(Special By Scripps-Metlae.) St. Petersburg, April 29.—The Viceroy Alexieff reports that the enemy has been seen six miles off Port Arthur last night. This morning ten Japanese cruisers and six torpedo boats were seen in the Ussurian gulf, near Port Arthur.

Men Drowned

Disaster today overtook a party of boat builders who were crossing the Volga at Muren. The boat overturned and fifteen persons were drowned.

Given Greeting

The six hundred survivors of the Variag and Korietz sunk in Chemulpo on February 9th arrived this morning. The Grand Duke Alexis was present at the station and shook hands with the officers as they left the train. Outside a large crowd greeted the men in an enthusiastic fashion.

Fight Near New Chwang

Shanghai, April 29.—Reports reach here of desperate fighting south of Yin Kow, the seaport of New Chwang. The Japanese, who landed in force recently, have, according to these reports, begun the campaign on New Chwang and are meeting with desperate resistance. The Russians have a strong force in that vicinity and are organizing its strategic importance have strongly fortified themselves, and do not intend to permit the Japanese to occupy this point if they can be kept from it. No details of the fighting have been received, nor is it known with what success the Japanese are meeting.

War May Be More Savage

Nagasaki, April 29.—The sinking of the transport Kimshu by Russian torpedo boats, with a number of Japanese troops aboard, has caused intense excitement here and has aroused a feeling of savagery which may result in giving the naval war at least a ferocious aspect which has hitherto been lacking on the part of the Japanese. It is safe to say that should the Vladivostok fleet be taken and beaten while the present temper lasts (and this is regarded as not unlikely) few Russian prisoners would be taken.

The heroism of the Japanese soldiers who preferred death fighting against overwhelming odds rather than surrender, is spoken of with intense pride and it is probable that posthumous honors will be conferred on all of them. The officers and men who surrendered, leaving their comrades to a glorious death, are not popular, and unless public feeling changes their lot will not be a happy one when they return.

Cross the Yalu

Rome, April 29.—A telegram from Seoul states that 30,000 Japanese troops crossed the Yalu river Wednesday and that it was expected another 20,000 would cross Thursday during the night. The Russians are said to have retreated.

Hard Fighting

Chefoo, April 29.—Hard fighting is reported along the Yalu and the Japanese apparently have made good their position on the north bank of the river in a number of places. Troops have been landed both above and below Antung, which is the key of the Russian position, and under the cover of the first arrivals and the gunboats reinforcements are being poured into Manchuria.

It is expected that before the end of the week the Japanese will be in position to make an attack on Antung in force. If the Russians wait for it, which is doubtful. In fact, military men declare that with a strong Japanese force on three sides of the position it is untenable and nothing left for the Russians but to fall back to their second line at Feng Wang Cheng.

According to reports the Japanese are said to have retreated.

Japanese Pensions.

According to amendments made to the Japanese pension law of 1902, the annual allowances made to the families of military men who were killed or who died from wounds received in battle, according to rank, are as follows: Colonel, $375; Lieutenant-colonel, $300; major, $225; captain, $150; first lieutenant, $112; second lieutenant, $90; noncommissioned officer, $75 to $200; private soldier, $25.50 to $15.

Fish Can Hear.

A Spanish naturalist, Dr. Ribera, has proved that fish can hear and distinguish sounds and words. Concealing himself behind a bush, he taught the carp in a pond to come to the surface for food every time he spoke a certain sentence. To other words, not associated with feeding, they paid no attention.

Teach Practical Shopping.

The Birmingham school authorities not only teach the children how to cook, but how to shop economically.

have not accomplished the crossing of the Yalu without hard fighting and considerable loss. The losses are said from Russian sources to have been heavy.

Near Port Arthur

St. Petersburg, April 29.—A telegram from Port Arthur says that a large flotilla of torpedo boats, accompanied by a Russian loan on the French market, but they have, in a measure, failed, owing to the absolute refusal of M. Rouvier, the minister of finance, to countenance another appeal being made to the French public. As an alternative, M. Rouvier approves of an issue of treasury bonds to the value of between three and four hundred millions, redeemable at three months and at a high rate of interest not yet fixed. This, the Bank of Hottinguer, at the head of a group of capitalists, is understood to be willing to take up.

Old Customs

Shanghai, April 29.—The old Japanese war distinction called the Kanjo has been revived since the opening of the war. Japanese officers have been empowered to confer the decoration on those soldiers who shall perform service of exceptional bravery. The conferring of the honor while the war is in progress is calculated to stir the remainder of the troops to emulation. When the war is over, according to present plans, the medals will consider the details in each case and confer the decoration.

Near Wonsan

Paris, April 29.—From St. Petersburg it is learned that a Russian column is about twenty miles from Wonsan, where the Japanese garrison has fortified itself. The Vladivostok squadron supports the movement of the Russian column.

Their Story

Vladivostok, April 29.—The Russian squadron, consisting of the armored cruisers Rossia, Rurik, and Gromobol, and the protected cruiser Bogatyr, commanded by Rear Admiral Yezzen, returned here from operations off the Korean coast. The squadron left here at daylight on April 24th. The Rurik returned the following day but the others proceeded to Gen San in Korea, and have to get to the town on the morning of April 25th, about five miles from the entrance of the bay. Two torpedo boats were sent into the bay and found the Japanese trading steamer Goyo Maru at anchor with a crew of twenty. The latter were ordered ashore and officers took possession of the papers and flag and the boat was sent to the bottom by a torpedo. The squadron returned to Vladivostok on the night of April 27, and started on another expedition. The evening of the 27th they sighted the Japanese steamer with war stores aboard. The crew of fifteen Koreans and twelve Japanese were taken aboard and the steamer sunk. The same night twelve miles off Plakshin bay, near Kiam, the large Japanese transport Kimshu Maru was overwhelmed. She was signaled to stop but the crew tried to escape and were all captured. Admiral Yezzen then ordered his men to leave the transport after the six officers were taken aboard. A hundred and thirty infantry men on board refused to surrender. The Japanese soldiers opened fire and wounded a Russian coxswain and the transport was sent to the bottom by means of a mechanical mine and a few shells. The Japanese on board did not cease firing and made no attempt to save themselves. The transport had four Hotchkiss guns, ammunition and two thousand tons of coal for the Japanese.

Childish Idea of Play.

A little girl the other day illustrated two things—the difficulty of selecting the right noun of multitude and the inherent cruelty of childhood. She wanted a game—a game of her own invention. "What is the game?" asked her nurse. The innocent eyes brightened as the answer came: "You be a poor little blind lame lamb and I'll be a flock of tigers."

Confucius on Women's Duties.

"Women's business," says Confucius, "is simply the preparation and the supplying of wine and food—she may take no step of her own motion, and may come to no conclusion in her own mind. Beyond the threshold of her own apartment, she should not be known either for evil or for good."

Self-Flattery.

Most of us, when thinking about Diogenes looking for the honest man, can almost feel the blinding flash of the lantern in our faces and hear his shout of discovery.

Grains in Bushel of Wheat.

A man with a genius for figures has counted and calculated the number of grains in a bushel of wheat, and makes out the number to be 603,720. The size of wheat grains differs, of course, but a fair conception of what a million means can be had by thinking of the grains in 37 quarts of wheat.

WHAT TO EXPECT OF THE WEATHER

Table of What the Month of May Has Been Doing Past Years.

If the average weather during the month of May for thirty-three years past is any criterion of what may be expected in Janesville next month, Forecaster Cox of Chicago has furnished the statistics for the public to consider. While the forecaster does not attempt to prophesy the weather conditions for the entire month of May by reference to statistics for the past, he furnishes an idea of what Janesville May weather has been and what it is likely to be. The monthly average report is an innovation in weather office procedure and will be continued every month.

The report of average weather for May for thirty-three years shows the following:

Mean or normal temperature, 57 degrees.

Warmest month, 1896, with an average of 66 degrees.

Coldest month, 1882, with average of 51 degrees.

Highest temperature, 94 degrees, May 31, 1895.

Lowest temperature, 27 degrees, May 2, 1875.

Average date on which "killing" frost occurred in spring, May 1.

Average precipitation of rain or melted snow, 3.51 inches.

Average number of days with 1 inch or more of rain, twelve.

Greatest monthly precipitation, 7.32, in May, 1887.

Least monthly precipitation, 0.84, in May, 1897.

Greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any twenty-four consecutive hours was 2.82 inches, May 1 and 2, 1873.

Greatest amount of snow fall in any twenty-four consecutive hours, a trace, May 10, 1902.

Average number of clear days, ten.

Average number partly cloudy days, thirteen.

Average number cloudy days, eight.

Prevailing winds from the north-east.

Average velocity of May wind was seventeen miles an hour.

Heaviest velocity of wind was seventy-two miles from southwest on May 25, 1902.

The forecast for today is not discouraging. It will be fair until tomorrow, and then it will be slightly warmer, with probable increasing cloudiness. Northwest winds will become variable.

Because Carl Zimmerman of Chicago neglected to procure a marriage license, his wedding with Miss Ethel Hucks at Appleton was delayed more than two hours.

Gen. Fred Grant and a party of seventeen men and women of Evanston, Ill., spent Thursday at Devil's lake. They had been at Gatuna, Ill., to attend the celebration of the eighty-second anniversary of the birth of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

An Italian orchestra, a pleasant morning, and the spring fever caused a large crowd of university men at Madison to cut classes on Thursday and assemble on the upper campus lawn, where the musicians entertained the students for two hours profitably.

The City Button company of New York filed a claim against the estate of the late Willis W. Cooper of Kenosha on Thursday, demanding the sum of $225,405. A GIANT STRIKE SEEMS IMMINENT

Twelve Thousand Chicago Teamsters Are Waiting the Word From Headquarters.

WANT AN INCREASE IN THEIR PAY

If the Employers Do Not Give a Favorable Reply, All Business in the City May Be Tied Up in the Morning.

(Special by Scripps-Metlae.) Chicago, April 29.—Twelve thousand teamsters are but waiting an unfavorable reply to tie up all the industries and business houses in the city. The men have declared for a higher wage scale and if they do not receive it they say they will strike the first thing in the morning. The answer from the employers is expected this afternoon and a strike may be precipitated at any moment.

Would Tie Up City

Should such a strike come it would tie up all business in Chicago tighter than it did last spring a year ago, when a similar strike was inaugurated. At that time there was much rioting and some bloodshed, and all traffic on the streets was stopped by the blockading of the wagon ways by striking teamsters.

Affect Country

Such a strike would effect the country at large as many of the near-by cities to Chicago are dependent upon it for its meat and vegetables and these could not be hauled to the trains if traffic is tied up. A year ago the strikers were not as well organized as they are at the present time and while many firms were able to weather the trouble by employing non-union drivers the unloading of all drivers in the city has now become so perfect that few would dare to take a non-union job.

Other Industries

Should a tie-up become general it is probable that many of the manufacturing houses would have to close down for lack of material and all shipments out of Chicago for the country at large would be delayed several days at least. The employers are in conference this afternoon and it is thought they will refuse the demands made.

CLUB LADIES IN THE CONVENTION

Elected Officers and Transacted Routine Business—Mrs. Bosworth's Paper Pleased.

The large delegation of Janesville ladies who attended the first district convention of the Women's clubs at Evansville yesterday returned last evening. They report a most enjoyable time. Janesville was well represented on the program. Mrs. A. E. Tanberg delivered the presidents address and Mrs. A. C. Jenkins, the report of the corresponding secretary. Mrs. W. F. Bosworth read the paper which was regarded as the best effort of the evening. Prof. Wright of Beloit addressed the meeting on "The Club Woman of Antiquity." In the evening, an amendment to raise dues five cents per capita, making the annual amount $2 instead of $1, was passed. The ladies of the Baptist church served luncheon and supper in the parlors of the Congregational church. The new officers elected are:

ARE INDICTED

William Reckhow of Beloit, and Jas. McCullough of Footville, Appear in Court.

William Reckhow, a prominent real estate dealer in Beloit, was arrested in the line city by Sheriff Appleby this morning and brought before Judge Dunwiddie in circuit court this afternoon, charged in the indictment of the grand jury with making a sale and accepting in partial payment from Gottlieb Kleinhardt the sum of $143.93 on certain property which he neither had possession of nor the right to sell. He pleaded not guilty and his bonds were fixed at $1,500. Attorney Udeli, who represented him, expected to furnish the bonds this afternoon.

Without a License

James McCullough of Footville was indicted for selling liquor without a license. Mr. McCullough runs a saloon in Footville and while attending a farmer's sale two miles north and west of the village on February 17, disposed of a pint flask of liquor to a purchaser. Another man who was under the influence and to whom he had refused to sell the liquor is suspected by Mr. McCullough of making the complaint. He pleaded guilty and the court imposed on him the minimum fine of $50 and costs, paying him for the straightforward stand he had taken in the matter. The money was paid.

A Divorce Action

Action for divorce was brought in circuit court this afternoon by Maud E. Dawson, formerly of Neenah, against her husband, W. W. Dawson, at one time landlord of a hotel in Monroe. In her testimony the plaintiff averred that her husband had a habit of pulling her around the house by the nose.

FOND DU LAC IS "AGIN" GOVERNOR

COOK SECURED DELEGATION FROM THAT COUNTY.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY TODAY

La Crosse Also Has Its Caucuses This Afternoon and Evening—The Outlook Bright.

From present indications it would seem that the campaign bandwagon has struck up a lively tune with Baensch and Cook the composers. To the surprise of the La Follette supporters Fond du Lac county went solidly for Cook yesterday. This brings the total of sure delegates against the governor up to three hundred and one while he can but muster one hundred and ninety-six and these include the twelve votes from Ashland county and the nine from Eau Claire county which are disputed by the anti-La Follette campaign managers. La Follette yesterday carried Oneida county by gaining the delegation in Rhinelander. The country districts went against him strongly, but the city of Rhinelander overbalanced this gain.

Milwaukee Today
Today they are voting in Milwaukee. Present indications are that the conservative element will carry almost every precinct in the city. La Crosse county with twenty-one votes in the state convention also holds its caucuses and should the conservative element get a hundred and twenty-five votes out of Milwaukee and twenty-one from La Crosse the outlook would be very bright.

Desperate Measures
The La Follette men in Milwaukee are using desperate measures to capture the caucuses. They are making every attempt to belittle Hon. Emil Baensch and have men who follow him from place to place he visits in the hopes of belittling him in the eyes of the Germans of the Free Press. The voting booths open at twelve o'clock today and close at eight o'clock this evening.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources Great Interest to the Workman.

Eighteen hundred employees in the stone sheds of Montpelier, Barre and vicinity, Vermont, were locked out recently by the Barre Granite Manufacturers' association, compelling nearly all the granite manufacturers in this section. The trouble is due to the introduction of new tool-sharpening machines. It is claimed by the and sharpeners that they are required by a number of items to sharpen all the small tools not easily attended to by the machine men. The hand sharpeners objected to this arrangement, and about 200 struck last week. The manufacturers regarded the objections as unreasonable, and voted to cease operations for an indefinite period.

A blow was aimed at organized labor by the National Convention of Clothiers in its annual convention by the organization of the National Labor Bureau of clothing manufacturers in Philadelphia recently. With the formation of the bureau the declaration was made that the "closed shop" is an un-American institution; the rights of every man to sell his labor as he sees fit and the freedom of every employer to hire such labor, are given by the laws of the land.

The strike of the bricklayers and the laborers just ended in New York city cost in wages $1,082,100. The bricklayers were the heaviest losers, the wages they missed footing up $512,400. The strike started on March 2, when the laborers quit because their hours of labor had been increased without extra pay. The bricklayers went out on all contracts of the Mason Builders' association in sympathy.

The anthracite coal workers have been notified that their sliding scale increase for March will be 6 per cent instead of 7 per cent they have had during the winter. The decrease is due to a decline in the tide water price to $1.30. This month the sliding scale increase will be wiped out by the reduction of 50 cents a ton in prices.

Committees representing the machinists of the Santa Fe between Chicago and the Pacific coast are endeavoring to make an agreement with the management of the road. The machinists are willing to renew the present wage scale, but want more acceptable working conditions, similar to those in force on other railroad systems.

Judge Disette of Cleveland has issued an injunction restraining Grand Chief Stone and the other officials from changing the next meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers from Los Angeles to any other city.

A general sympathetic strike in aid of the striking cabmen was discussed by the St. Louis central trades and labor union recently.

Chicago, Ill., unions are said to have over $3,000,000 deposited in the banks and are agitating the question of starting a bank of their own.

As a result of the organization of the operating department in the Harriman roads, there have been many wage reductions.

MERCURY

A POOR CRUTCH.

Experience is a dear teacher, as those who pin their faith to Mercury find out sooner or later. This powerful poison combined with Potash, is the treatment generally prescribed for Contagious Blood Poison, but failure and disappointment is the inevitable result. These minerals drive in the sores and eruptions, and apparently the disease is gone and the patient believes the cure permanent, but soon learns better when the old symptoms return almost as soon as the treatment is left off. You must either keep the system saturated with mercury or endure the tortures of sore mouth, ulcerated throat and the mortification that one naturally feels when the body is covered with disgusting sores, rashes, copper-colored spots and other aggravating symptoms of this vile disease.

Mercury and Potash are poor crutches, and their use eventually breaks down the constitution, ruins the digestion and cause the bones to decay.

S. S. S., a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, is the only antidote for Contagious Blood Poison. It destroys every atom of the deadly virus, overcomes the bad effects of the mercury and cleanses the blood and system so thoroughly that never after are any signs of the disease seen.

Nor is the taint ever transmitted to others. We will send free our book on Contagious Blood Poison, which is interesting and contains full directions for treating yourself at home. Medical advice or any special information desired given without charge.

Increasing cloudiness and showers Saturday; variable winds.

MAYOR A. O. WILSON.

In the death of Mayor A. O. Wilson the city has lost an honest intelligent official, and a citizen whose loyalty and devotion were never questioned.

Mayor Wilson was a man possessed of fine sensibilities, and keen appreciation. He combined with culture, a warm and tender heart, in sympathy with humanity, and he enjoyed, in rare degree, the love and confidence of his fellow men.

He was a modest man, and when selected by the citizens to fill the office of the chief executive, his only fear was in his ability to faithfully perform the duties involved.

His record is an open book, and it will bear the closest investigation, for honesty and faithfulness is recorded on every page, down to the closing chapter.

As a citizen and neighbor he enjoyed an enviable reputation, and his memory will linger in the home as a benediction.

Mr. Wilson was a good writer and had he devoted his life to journalism, his influence would have been felt for good in the field of labor for which he was peculiarly adapted. A good man has gone, and genuine sorrow marks the esteem he enjoyed among his fellows.

THE RIGHT SENTIMENT.

President Roosevelt, in a recent letter to Ray Stannard Baker, expressed the following sentiment on organized capital and organized labor:

"I believe in corporations; I believe in trade unions. Both have come to stay, and are necessities under our present industrial system. But where, in either one or the other, there develops corruption, or moral indifference to the rights of others, or a short-sighted refusal to look beyond the moment's gain, then the offender, whether union or corporation, must be fought, and if public sentiment is calloused to the iniquity of either, by just so much the whole public is damaged."

This language is not very consoling to either, but it is sound, and indicates both the honesty and fearlessness of the man who stands today at the head of the nation, and who is soon to come before the people for endorsement.

The President realizes, as does every other man of unbiased mind, that corporate wealth is but a fraction of the wealth of the nation, and that organized labor is but a drop in the bucket, when compared with the labor of the nation.

The American Steel Corporation, known as the billion dollar combine, is paralleled, so far as capital is concerned many times over in every large city, and the agricultural wealth of the country, puts to blush all combinations of Capital.

In the labor world comparisons are more odious. The United States is a busy hive of industry. Men and women in every corner of the land work untiringly with hand and brain and but comparatively few of them know any thing about labor organizations.

The great majority of the people are employees, glad of the opportunity to work under intelligent direction, and hopeful that the day may come when they will join the ranks of employers.

Six million of these people are patrons of saving banks, and as many more own their homes and by thrift and economy are working their way up to the ranks of capitalists.

Five million are farmers working from sun to sun, aided by an army of employees who know nothing about an eight hour work day. Two million more are merchants and small manufacturers whose work and worry never cease.

Add to these classes the housewives of the country, whose work is never done, and who always complain that the days are too short, and you have an array of working people that puts to blush organized labor with its little coterie of followers.

Organized Capital will never wreck the financial world, and organized labor will never control the industrial world. Both may be made helpful under proper restrictions, but, as the President says, when either one or the other develops corruption, the offender must be fought and the evil controlled.

CONGESTED NEW YORK.

It is a well known fact that a large percentage of the immigrants arriving in this country every year, land in New York, and the fact is also recognized that many foreigners come to this country with no definite destination in mind. As a result many of them remain at the port of entry. The City of New York increased her population last year 60,000, in this way adding materially to congested conditions already existing and making competition for common labor unusually active.

"The Financier," in discussing it, argues that the fault is largely due to steam ship companies, who find Castle Garden the most convenient dumping ground.

The paper claims that these people are willing to work, and if landed at Southern ports of entry, where land is cheap and labor scarce, that it would be infinitely better for both the immigrant and the large centers of population.

That something should be done in the direction indicated, is a self evident fact. The "Financier" accuses neglect and says:

"The time is at hand when this neglect must stop. We will have to do one of two things—cut off immigration in its entirety, or direct it where we accept it. The alien cannot judge for himself. He sticks to the city because he is densely ignorant of what lies beyond. We have millions of acres of idle productive land awaiting cultivation, and our farmers as a rule are crying for help. If we can place the immigrant on the land the country need give itself no concern for his future. He will thrive, and the second generation will be so thoroughly assimilated that it can be classified as American stock. Of course it is easier to say than to do them, but the one way to begin is to compel the steamship companies to seek different ports of entry. Close New York except to a limited class, and make Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, New Orleans and Galveston the regular entry ports, and the problem will solve itself. The South needs cheap labor—in fact its development is such that it needs labor at any price, and labor of an order superior to its negro supply. One hundred thousand men can be absorbed by the South every year to its own advantage. Land is cheap, climatic conditions are ideal, and the struggle for existence is less severe. The ordinary immigrant, if placed in the South, would develop into a man instead of remaining a frightened, half-starved or vicious victim of our city civilization, as he too often is under present conditions. Put him in the way of making a living like a man and he will grow. Put him up in the slums and we are only adding to the tax burden of this and the next generation, and risking the future of the Republic."

In the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi alone there are over 4,000,000 acres of public lands awaiting settlement, and millions more are to be had at ridiculously low prices. That is where the immigrant belongs, not necessarily as a farmer, but as a laborer; and the small city needs him as well. If he does not wish to come under conditions, let him stay at home. What the United States should consider, however, is not exclusion of immigrants, but a little commonsense in dealing with them after they arrive here."

REQUEST DECLINED.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church has declined the bequest of the late W. W. Cooper, amounting to some $50,000. It will be remembered that Mr. Cooper lost his life in the tropics theatre fire. He was a wealthy manufacturer at Kenosha and his estate of $200,000 after numerous private bequests, was to be equally divided between Lawrence University of Appleton, and the Missionary Society, his wife and daughter to have a life interest in the annuity.

At the time of Mr. Cooper's death more or less criticism was made in Methodist circles about his life being sacrificed while in attendance at a theatre, and the question was raised as to the propriety of the church in accepting the bequest named in his will. Whether this sentiment, or some technicality, was the cause for declining the bequest, is not stated.

The criticism seems a little far fetched. There was nothing objectionable about the entertainment, and had the fire occurred on a Sunday afternoon when the theatre was filled with worshippers, the place of meeting would have been considered as objectionable as a church. The Missionary Society will be called prudish, if the bequest is declined for sentimental reasons of this character.

It remains for the republicans of Wisconsin to say whether or not Senator Spooner shall have a seat in the National Convention. The wishes of the president ought to have some influence in his favor.

Wisconsin democrats are not taking very kindly to the Hearst boom for President. The party will do itself credit by sending a Parker delegation to St. Louis.

The new health officer starts in with a good deal of enthusiasm. His efforts to clean up the city are commendable and will be endorsed by all good citizens.

NOT A BOY IN THE CONTEST

OF DECLAMERS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT.

JUDGES FROM A DISTANCE

Have Been Secured in Order That There May Be No Chance for Partiality.

Prof. O. J. Schuster of Platteville, Prof. T. H. Dickinson of Madison, and Principal L. B. Davies of Delavan will be the judges at the sixth annual declamatory contest to be held at the Janesville high school this evening. The doors will be open at 7:15 and the program will be opened at eight with a selection by the high school orchestra.

Number Sixteen Pieces

The orchestra of sixteen pieces under the direction of Mrs. Hyde has prepared some new music for the occasion. The organization is one of which the students are justly proud. It is doubtful if any other high school in the state can boast of a feature of such proportion as this one. The instruments and players are: Violins—Nelle Decker, Julia Enright, Howard Clithero, Will Spohn, Will Poeschen, Jerome Davis, and Robert Jensen; mandolins—Marion Paul, Lillian Crowley, Wallace Mills, and John Murphy; cornet—Lynn Cory; clarinet—Archie Witherell; guitars—Mary McGlinn, Louise McGowan, and Besie Slater. Mrs. Hyde plays the piano.

The Girls' Octette

The second number on the program is a selection by the High School Girls' Octette. The singers are: 1st soprano—Emma MacLean and Gladys Fieldes; 2d soprano—Clara Jones and Pearl Peters; 1st alto—Adah Longley and Robena Keller; 2d alto—Grace Withersell and Lucy Fox. The octette made its first appearance at a contest two weeks ago and every one present was delighted with its work.

No Boys in Contest

Sad to relate there are no boys in the declamatory contest this year. The girls seem to have distanced them in each of the four cities. After the two opening numbers already alluded to the program will be as follows:

1. Evansville—How the Church Was Built at Kehoe's Bar—Mabel LeBaron.

2. Whitewater—The Honor of the Woods—Anna Stewart.

3. Beloit—How the Lake Stakes Were Lost and Won—Ma Parker.

4. Janesville—The Sign of the Cross—Harriet Decker.

Group Number Two

Group No. 2 includes the following declamations in the order given:

1. Whitewater—The Soft Spot in "B" 606—Madge Allen.

Music—Girls' Octette.

2. Beloit—As the Moon Rose—Elmer Parker.

3. Janesville—Jean Valjean and the Bishop—Ethel Bates.

4. Evansville—Blair Rose—Esther Thomas.

Music—High School orchestra.

SOME PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED

WHY PURCHASE OF MAIL ORDER HOUSES FOR CASH?

LOCAL MERCHANTS DISCUSS IT

When All Is Paid There Is Not Much Saving in the Cost of Articles.

"Why a man will buy through the agency of a mail order house for cash and then come to a local dealer and ask for ninety days time is a matter that I can not solve," said a prominent dealer in farm implements this morning. "Yet it is true. Why I can tell you one cause I know of where a prominent farmer bought a roller from a prominent Chicago mail order house, paid the freight on it after paying a cash price and it cost him several dollars more than I would have sold him one just as good for. Then this same man bought a plow from me and wanted ninety days time."

Cash and Time
"We are always willing to accommodate our customers and accommodate them all we can but it does seem a little hard to see them patronize a mail order concern, pay cash for inferior goods when it comes right down to it and then ask us for time for some small article. This mail order business is really more costly in the end than the purchaser thinks of when he sees the catalogue with its fancy cuts and catchy prices. When he gets through paying freight charges and the cash down he could stop and figure he has spent more money for his articles than he had expected when he first read the price list."

General Inquiry
This line of talk brought about a general inquiry among many of the merchants in the city as to whether the mail order houses injured their local trade. One prominent greengrocer said, "Injure us? Of course it does. Perhaps everyone does not know it but some of the men most interested in bringing factories here and prominent in the city affairs give big orders to wholesale grocery houses at prices we could duplicate if they ordered the same quantity from us. They think they get it a little cheaper, but in reality they do not. I am a believer in home trade for home industries. We are to keep our stock of goods up to date with all the latest novelties but how can we do this if our patrons buy through mail order houses?"

Dry Goods and Shoes
There was a time when the mail order houses did an immense business in dry goods and shoes, but of late years this trade has decreased. Of course many families buy through shoppers in Chicago which is practically the same as a mail order house, but as a general thing these lines of business are not so much affected.

Great Complaint
The general complaint of the merchants as a whole was that the big mail order houses of Chicago capture lots of country trade. Trade that would otherwise come to Janesville, but are enticed away from the legitimate channels by glittering catalogues. Of course these houses have some special article that is set as a bait for the general public, but taking it as a whole when everything is paid for, the total figures will be as much if not more than they would have been if purchased at one of the local stores.

Well Equipped
Janesville is well equipped with everything that the average purchaser desires. Purchases can be made from the finest needle made to the biggest threshing machine with an engine like a locomotive and all through local agents who spend their money right here in Janesville.

"DEATH" HIS SUBJECT FOR THIS EVENING

Rev. L. J. Vaughn Will Speak Again at St. Mary's Church Tonight.

Rev. L. J. Vaughn delivered an excellent sermon last evening at St. Mary's church on "Sin" to a large number of the congregation. He described to his audience how this, the greatest of all evils, had spread over the whole world and that it was worse than any plague that had ever been experienced by the people of the land. Rev. Vaughn is an excellent lecturer and never fails to hold his hearers spellbound on any subject that he may discuss. Last evening the subject of his lecture will be "Death" and the church should be crowded tonight to hear this interesting subject discussed. The public is especially invited to attend the evening service.

RUSHING WORK AT NEW MYERS

THE FOURTH FLOOR IS PARTIALLY FINISHED TODAY.

FRESH WITH PAINT AND PAPER

Everything New From Top to Bottom of the Building—Much Money Expended.

From top to bottom the New Myers hotel will be entirely fit when the opening day comes at last. All is bustle and bustle from the fourth floor down to the basement. Painters are followed by carpet men and carpet men by furniture men, and the fourth floor today looks as though a rapid transformation scene was going on. Every room has been repapered and repainted and new carpets of pleasing patterns to match the paper have been laid. Fire oak, mahogany and curled maple dressers and washstands and dainty white and brass bedsteads are piled in the halls waiting only to be put together and placed in the rooms.

Fast Work
As fast as one floor is finished the workmen go to the next. The dining room has been repainted and decorated and the furniture, all weathered oak, is ready to be unpacked in a day or two. The ordinary dining room is perhaps the daintiest of all the rooms thus far finished. It will be used for buffet breakfasts and suppers and for buffet lunches when parties are given at the hotel. Electric lights are all about the ceiling and the dainty dishes that are on the plate rack add to the beauty of the room.

The Kitchen
The kitchen is where the greatest change has been made and when the workmen get through there today it will be in excellent shape. New ranges and steamers with laundry and helps dining room opening off are all as clean as paint and soap and water can make them. Everything is new and up-to-date and it will be as conveniently arranged as is possible.

Parlors Pretty
Mrs. McNeill was hard at work yesterday afternoon hanging her pictures in the parlor on the first floor. The furniture in this room will be the new willow and leather style which is comfortable and looks so clean and pretty all the time. Mrs. McNeill appreciates that Janesville people are interested in the opening of the hotel and during the day she has many callers who are anxious to see if the bathrooms are really being put in or the paper is the pattern they have been told it was.

Everyone Pleased
Everyone who has seen the interior of the hotel is pleased with the changes that are being made. It will be fresh and clean from top to bottom and under the management of Mr. Donnelly and his sister will soon regain the prestige it once had years ago when it was the best hotel in southern Wisconsin.

Greenman Talked of: The name of W. H. Greenman is being freely discussed as a candidate for mayor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Wilson. Mr. Greenman is well qualified to fill the office and the city would be fortunate in securing his services.

Raised the Aerial Ladder: This afternoon Chief Klein of the fire department raised the aerial ladder on the city hall building to enable the firemen to do some repair work to the copper ridge on the roof.

Adulteration of Candy.
The adulteration of and use of inferior materials in the making of candy are beginning to attract much attention in England. Prof. Ooston recently lectured on "sacharoman-laces." He expressed the opinion that future scientists would place the evils of sugar glutony on a pedestal as conspicuous as the drink question, as causing deterioration of individuals and races.

A Bermuda Fisherman's Daughter

By Kate Upson Clark

Copyright, 1904, by Kate Upson Clark

"Tell me," she said breathlessly—"tell me before anybody comes—is John well? Tell me! Tell me!"

"Yes," said John's mother, a scorn creeping over her handsome face, which was the counterpart of her son's. "I cannot imagine why you want to know. But John is finely established in New York. We have many friends and relatives there, and he is very happy."

"Oh, no, no!" breathed the girl, tears streaming slowly down her face.

"So he writes," pursued the mother mercilessly.

"Tell him," Brenda said presently, with all her courage—"tell him that I am—glad—that he is happy." Then her crushed pride gave a great recoil, and without intending the words or fairly knowing that she was uttering them she added, "Tell him that I—I am going to be married."

Somehow she emerged from the house and made her way home. She felt that everything was gone, and it did not make any difference now what became of her. She might as well please her father and mother and do what she could to make their lives easier. She broke into the quiet living room at home as though she were crazy.

"Mother," she said, "you may tell Martin Mears that I will marry him."

"When?" gasped the startled mother. "Tomorrow." And it was done.

Five years passed, and Brenda was the mother of two children. They were girls, with all of her blond beauty. Martin had been a devoted husband. He had put Brenda's brother Digby in the way of earning well, and all the comfort which the family had anticipated from the marriage had been realized.

One day Brenda was in her store-room, when in moving a small box of her husband's, which he always kept locked, it fell to the floor. The lock broke, and a package of unopened letters dropped out. Brenda's blood froze in her veins as she looked at them.

They were addressed to her in the handwriting of John Masters. She tore them open feverishly and read them—letters full of love at first, of agonized doubt and fear later, then of despair. One letter had been written after her marriage. "Oh, how could you leave me, my darling? Could you not wait for me? Have I not done all that I could for you? You have stripped life forever of all brightness for me. Oh, if I could only know what has come between us!"

She went in great gusts of passion as she read on. And her husband had kept these letters from her. She hated him.

When he came to his dinner the letters lay beside his plate. He recognized them instantly. One of the children was taking its noonday nap. He sent the other to be fed by the negro woman in the kitchen. Brenda was sitting in her place colorless and her eyes fixed on him and burning with reproach. He gazed at her a moment. Then he dropped upon the floor and groveled at her feet, and she spoke for the first time.

"How could you, Martin; how could you?"

"Oh, I know it wasn't right, Brenda," he said hoarsely, "but I loved you! You don't know how I loved you! Nobody ever loved anybody so. I had to have you, and so I got Digby to get the letters, and I paid him not to let you have them. Oh, it wasn't right! But it was the only way that I saw to get you. And haven't I been good to you, Brenda? Haven't I done everything for you?"

She rose and left him. His touch seemed to poison her.

A week followed of horrible, silent suffering for them both. Then came a scene which she had pictured to herself for many years. Even since her marriage she could not help sometimes imagining it, though she had tried to be a good and faithful wife to the one who, as she now knew, had robbed her of the only man whom she had ever loved.

John Masters came back to Bermuda.

She knew nothing of it until he appeared before her, though her husband had piloted in the steamer which had brought the exile into harbor on the previous day and had seen him among the passengers. He came to Brenda's home in the sweet twilight of a May evening. She was playing with her children under the blooming oleanders.

He entered the gate almost like an old man, though he was scarcely thirty. His face was strongly marked and his hair was streaked with gray. She had grown more beautiful than ever with motherhood. He turned pale as she came forward and took his hand. There were no formalities between them. She spoke as though they had been parted only a short time.

"I never got your letters until last week, John," she said simply. "I am married, as you know. These are my children, but I married in a fit of wounded pride and despair because I did not hear from you. I know now that I have always loved you just the same, though I am prepared to live on with my husband and to try to be a good wife to him and a faithful mother to my children. Come and tell me about yourself."

She led him to the vine wreathed porch, and they sat down together on the bench. The evening wore on. The negro nurse put the children to bed. Still the long separated man and woman talked on. Then Martin Mears came home. Brenda did not look toward him, and the stern expression upon the face of John Masters forbade any speech between him and the man who had so wronged him. Humbly Martin Mears crept past them and went in.

The window of his room opened upon the porch. He threw himself down in his clothes upon the bed. The hours flew, and still John Masters and Brenda

"I cannot imagine why you want to know."

He heard a description of what the true lover of his wife had suffered. He heard her tell John Masters how she had watched and waited for a letter, then how she had married, but how an awful mystery had hung over her through it all and had made her different from her old self and like a person in a dream. Martin Mears groaned to himself. It was all true. She had been kind to him, but it was the kindness of one who knows not what she does.

Suddenly a light began to shoot up from the east.

"Is there a fire, Brenda?" asked John Masters.

She looked steadily for a moment toward the new light.

"The sun is rising, John," she said. "We have talked all night, though it has seemed but an hour. It is the last day for us. You must go, and you must never come back. We must never see each other again."

She broke into a piteous sob. Martin Mears heard the man sob, too, as he tried to still her.

"Don't, Brenda," he pleaded. "It is harder for me than for you. Remember that. I would love to gather you in my arms and comfort you. I could do that in the old days, but not now. You are another man's wife. It is true that he is a villain, but you are still bound to him. Our only solace must be that we have always been true, and I shall be yours until I die."

The man's self control and high principle astounded the listening husband.

"He knows that I hear all that he says," he muttered to himself, "but he knows, too, that whatever he might do I could not say anything." He writhed upon his bed in an agony of remorse.

He rose presently and passed them, jostling them rudely as they stood, pale and wretched, at the gate in the dawn.

During that day he fell over the side of his pilot boat—that was what the seamen said, and indeed, the ocean was very rough—and was drowned.

John Masters went back to America the following week, but a year later he returned and claimed his bride.

PRESS COMMENT

El Paso Herald: A Fort Wayne man has been instantly killed by an electric shock from a telephone receiver he incautiously applied to his ear. And yet folks will continue to use the things just the same.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: Considering the enormous pile of old scrap from Russian vessels, the presence of the Chinese junkboat in the neighborhood isn't so very surprising.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The 7,000 Japanese who were lost in the engagement of last Saturday have with few exceptions been found again. A sad fate was that of the 12,000 Russians who found a watery grave in the Yalu. Nobody has ever taken the trouble to find them.

Beloit Free Press: Next Saturday President Roosevelt will press the buttons that opens the great fair at St. Louis. It is announced that everything is nearer completion than has been the case at the opening of any of the great expositions that have preceded it in this country.

Madison Democrat: There are 297 men at Silver City, Nevada, yearning for wives. Unfortunately we do not know their names and addresses, but Oshkosh splinters may acquire information to their advantage by addressing the postmaster.

Saturday Evening Post: It is rare that the torpedo fleet in American politics can provoke a reply from the battleship anchored in the quiet at Princeton, but when it does happen the detonation is heard all the way from Maine to California.

La Crosse Leader and Press: Mr. Bryan has evidently determined to go down in history as a chronic scold and, if he continues his policy of complaining of every act and prospective act of his Democratic associates, he will be remembered in his new character while his many admirable qualities will be forgotten.

San Diego Leader: The Kaiser has issued a decree commanding all German officers and soldiers to "use their weapons ruthlessly whenever civilians affront their military honor." If this is not official permission for any soldier to kill any citizen at any time, for imaginable offense, what is it?

Waukesha Freeman: The present caucus law, if allowed to stand, will result in smashing the Republican Party in Wisconsin, for the reason that more and more Democrats are being induced by corrupt means to attend the Republican caucuses and aid in carrying out the purposes of schemers. The limit of patience may be reached during the series of caucuses now being held.

Racine Journal: Congressman Minor in his acceptance speech well said the time of a government employee belongs not to himself but to the government which employs him. But the governor he is the government in this state and the time of the state belongs to him.

YOUR HUSBAND WORKS TOO HARD

Nearly every wife feels that her husband works too hard, and worries because he will not take the rest she knows he needs. She sees how tired and exhausted he is at night and how his sleep fails to rest him. She knows that his business is killing him—but she also knows that he will stick to his work just as long as he is able to stand.

If he could only take a vacation, if she could only get him away from business for a few weeks—but that is out of the question.

It is in cases of this kind that Rexall Mucu-Tone proves its rare value.

We could do a great work if we could only convince every woman who reads this newspaper that Rexall Mucu-Tone will do her tired-out husband as much good as a vacation—that it will brace him up physically and mentally, replenish his waning vitality and make him strong and well.

WHAT CATARRH REALLY MEANS.

Mucu-Tone is primarily a catarrh cure, but the term catarrh is very broad. It signifies a congestion of the mucous membranes due to the inability of the body, through close confinement and lack of outdoor exercise, to throw off the poisons that gather in the system, a condition that affects the entire organism of the sufferer, causing him to feel run down, worn out, weak, nervous and despondent.

Mucu-Tone not only corrects these conditions, driving out the poisons and restoring health, but it is a powerful tonic and system-builder as well. It brings new energy, cheerfulness, hopefulness, after the first few doses, and its continued use for a few weeks works permanent benefits in the nerves, muscles and sinews of the entire body.

Just persuade your husband to try Mucu-Tone, and note the wonderful change within a few days. It is your duty, and when he experiences the new life and strength it brings him, he will thank you from the bottom of his heart.

You need not hesitate buying a bottle of Rexall Mucu-Tone—our guarantee protects you completely. If for any reason you

HEALTH BETTER THAN FOR YEARS.

"Gentlemen—I was run down and worn out. Couldn't eat and couldn't sleep. As tired in the morning as when I went to bed. Unable to concentrate my mind and business simply going to the dogs. Tried Mucu-Tone under protest. Saw no reason why a catarrh remedy would do me any good and was disgusted with medicine in general. Took your advice finally and am mighty glad I did. Two months of this remedy fixed me up. Health now better than for years. Many thanks."

are not more than satisfied, return the empty bottle to us and we will promptly refund the money. Could any offer be fairer than that? We know what Rexall Mucu-Tone has done for thousands of worn-out, discouraged men and women, and we believe that your case will be no exception.

Sold only at our store. Large bottles, $9 cents.

CLOTHCRAFT

The Two-Button "Rugby"

Is popular with young men who want the very latest "wrinkle" in clothing.

The "Rugby" is the latest model, but there's not a wrinkle in it.

Look at the illustration and see how beautifully the suit fits—see how broad and graceful the shoulders are, how smoothly the front hangs, how shapely the trousers are. And all that beauty and shape will be retained throughout the life of the suit.

Mark that well.

Clothcraft Suits aren't made to give service for a few weeks and then lose their fit and become shabby.

They're made to withstand hard wear—to give you such complete satisfaction that you'll buy them season after season.

There's nothing cheap about them except their price—$10 to $25.

The first Clothcraft Suit you buy will prove the truth of this assertion.

There's not a better one to begin with than the "Rugby."

We'll be glad to show it to you at any time—but TO-DAY is the best day.

Get the style book to-day, too.

"The Ancients" Are Not in It.

Quoting the ancients, a local parson says that wisdom's first step is the recognition of the existence of ignorance. Nope. Not now. We've got the ancients skinned a mile. Today wisdom's first step is to get a bunch of money, put it in your wife's name and then cut loose.—New York Telegram.

Breathe Healing Air

Hyomel Destroys Germs of Catarrh and Cures the Disease—Money Back if it Fails.

No other treatment for catarrhal troubles is as pleasant and convenient to use as Hyomel. Simply put twenty drops of Hyomel in the inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for a few minutes four times a day, and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. In this way, one takes into the air passages of the head, throat and lungs air that is filled with balsamic healing and antiseptic fragrance. It goes to the most remote parts of the air passages, destroys all catarrhal germs, and enriches and purifies the blood with additional oxygen.

The first day's use of Hyomel will show a decided improvement, and in a short time there will be no further trouble with catarrh. Its good effects are quickly gained, and the benefit is permanent.

You take no risk in buying Hyomel. The complete outfit costs but one dollar, and if, after using it, you can say that it did not give satisfaction, King's Pharmacy and The Peoples Drug Co. will return your money. You have the promise of two of the most reliable drug firms in this section, that Hyomel will cost you absolutely nothing. If you can say "It did not help." You are to use it entirely at their risk, with the understanding that your money will be returned without question or argument, if you are not satisfied with Hyomel.

PRESS COMMENT.

Superior Telegram. A boy at Florence, in this state, saved his mother's life by using an axe on his father—rather a heroic remedy, we should say.

Town Topics: There are only two kinds of children—your own perfect little cherubs and the ill-behaved brats owned by other people.

Oshkosh Times: The members of the Smoot investigating committee are looking forward to a real nice time in Salt Lake City the coming summer.

Madison Journal: What the world bankers for is not so much something that will catch flies as it is a mixture that will drive them to the homes of the neighbors.

Chicago Tribune: Judge Parker was surprised into saying something when he was asked if he had any comment to make concerning the Bryanite roast he got in Chicago last Saturday night. What he said was "na! ha!"

Oshkosh Northwestern: The burden of Governor La Follette's campaign speeches is beginning to bear a suspicious resemblance to "the song of the dying swan."

Milwaukee News: The collapse of the Hearst "boom" leaves the field clear to Mr. Wall. In fact, it has been evident from the first that Mr. Wall's candidacy would command the support of the Democrats of Wisconsin, and that the opposition of the Hearst committee merely gave the appearance of opposition without the substance. The Hearst "boom" has been largely one of noise—the noise of paid workers. It has lacked the dignity and character that the American people expect and demand of presidential candidates.

Turtle Farm. A laguna known as the "Paso de Colombia" and situated on the northern end of the island of Cozumel, off the east coast of Yucatan, has recently been rented from the Mexican government by one Senor Valerio Rivero with the intention of utilizing the waters as a breeding place for the common turtle, as well as for the tortoise variety.

Chickens Dread Snow. Chickens will sit for hours on the same place in the snow, not daring to move out of the unusual element about them, into which they heedlessly ventured. It is often a difficult task to get them out again. They would rather freeze over night than try to reach their coop, if not rescued in time.

Seaweed for Food. China and Japan are pre-eminently the seaweed-eating nations of the world. Among no other people are seaweeds so extensively devoured and relished as food substances.
